DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-3, drawn to a substantially pure polypeptide of SEQ ID NO: 2, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
- II. Claims 4-15, drawn to a nucleic acid comprising SEQ ID NO: 1, classified in class 536, subclass 23.72.
- III. Claim 16, drawn to a method of producing a polypeptide, classified in class 435, subclass 70.1.
- IV. Claim 17, drawn to a method of detecting nervous necrosis virus in a fish, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.
- V. Claim 18, drawn to a method of eliciting an antibody response by administering a polypeptide, classified in class 424, subclass 186.1.
- VI. Claim 19, drawn to a method of eliciting an antibody response by administering a nucleic acid, classified in class 514, subclass 44.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to products that differ in chemical structure, molecular sequence and function. Neither product requires the other for existence as each can be made synthetically.

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the method can be used to make any polypeptide product. Alternatively, the polypeptide can be made by a materially different process, i.e. synthetically.

Inventions I and IV, V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the polypeptide can be used in materially different processes, i.e., the method of either group IV or V. In addition, the method of eliciting an immune response can be used with a materially different product, the nucleic acid of group II.

Inventions II and VI are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the nucleic acid can be used in materially different processes, such as hybridization assays. In addition, the method of eliciting an immune response can be used with a materially different product, the polypeptide of group I.

Art Unit: 1648

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
